We manage ourbusiness to address potential risks of climate change, such as physical risks andextreme weather events. At the same time, we currently place a bigger focus onclimate mitigation measures in our operations and supply chain to minimise theimpacts of climate change.  |
|                    |  |   | We consider the impacts on our own operations and on our stakeholders, e.g. our water stewardship assessments investigate the impacts on water basins where our mills are located. Our wood fibre sourcing focuses on maintaining the resilience of forests through timely adaptation to climate change. In our forestry operations in South Africa, we apply forest protection measures, such as the control of pests and diseases as well as fire management, and conduct tree improvement programmes. In Europe, where we source wood from external sources, we collaborate with scientific partners to better understand the implications of climate change on the supply of wood and to identify practical response measures. We also engage with major forest certification schemes on their role in maintaining climate-fit forest landscapes. |
